Public lands are our heritage—and along with the privilege of using them, comes the responsibility to protect them for the use and enjoyment of all visitors:

- Respect private property and know where you are.
- Share the trail with all users, including hikers, horseback riders, bikers, and OHV users of all kinds.
- Expect and be prepared for trail hazards such as blind turns, steep hills, rocks, and deep arroyos.
- OHV crews work with local user groups to repair trail damage, address user conflicts, and educate all visitors about responsible use.
- The best way to ensure your privilege to ride on public lands is to ride responsibly and show respect to all users.
